Possible Duplicate: How does the SQL Server full text query parser work? I'm trying to find all of the phrases that contain the word "banana" in my full text index. I created a custom lexical filter that uses the full text index's functions, but when I apply it to my results, it doesn't find any matches. I've looked at the queries produced by the using the SQL Server full text search, but I just can't figure out what the query is that the custom lexical filter runs on. For context, here's my function, the results, and the SQL Server full text search query (with the filter commented out to show that it isn't working). CREATE FUNCTION dbo.SearchParse(@text NVARCHAR(500), @language NVARCHAR(25)) RETURNS @results TABLE
