days ago I was doing all the things with no problems, but I changed a lot of things at once and now I have this problem, here are some of the things I changed so you can understand why it isn't working: I changed the code of the main activity (I have a button that sets the mainactivity and another button that opens the 3rd activity) I removed the back button on the action bar because it didn't seem very useful at that point, and I added an action bar to the 3rd activity I edited the manifest to add the "start activity for result" for the action bar I edited the manifest so that only the main activity is visible, then I changed the main activity so that it can launch the 3rd activity again with the intentStack Here is the manifest: bff6bb2d33

Here, the usual order of human life has been interrupted by the arrival of an unidentified entity. Because the entity is different, and unidentified, and has not participated in a conflict, we still do not know what kind of curse it is. The unknown entity has not been seen, and its activities have been passing by as if they were no more than illusory images. However, this has now become the source of trouble. For this unknown entity is the true source of the curse. Somehow, this entity has power over the lands that has not been held by any entity since the beginning of time. This unknown entity is the Elden Ring, the Entity of the Beginning. The curse on the lands has been created by this unknown entity. The entity has its own logic, and is indifferent as to whether its curse is beneficial or detrimental to humanity. It is a power that the Elden Ring can not hope to match. However, we see this power as the source of the curse on the lands, and ourselves as the cause of the curse. Addition Notes: - Characters killed by the curse are restored by the quest. The same goes for undiscovered items that were collected by the player or that have been left over in the world. If the curse reaches a certain point, your character will not be able to encounter enemies because the game will just rest until the cursed event is over. - Some environments have different events depending on the character's class, such as a villager having a conversation if you are a knight or a field tending to fields if you are a farmer. - The stats of "Zan (H)". "Zan (H) is a
