How will the Last Jedi affect Disney's bottom line? In other Star Wars news, sources confirm Star Wars: The Last Jedi will be exceptionally expensive to make. While The Last Jedi is chiefly the domain of writer/director Rian Johnson, who is notoriously sanguine about the great deluge of rumours surrounding the film, it was a recent source at Lucasfilm that confirmed Disney had indeed moved ahead with their break-neck schedule on the franchise's eighth installment. This means, we should expect the production costs for Luke Skywalker's final days to be high. Lucasfilm's current production capital allocation budget has been re

I have this meta box code in my drupal7 site: `function vcharts_views_data() { $data = array(); $data['charts_'. vcharts_views_data_ref_id()] = array('title' => t('metabox title'), 'content' => t('metabox content'),); return $data; } add_filter('views_data', 'vcharts_views_data');` The problem is that I have added some data to this meta box, like this: `array('title' => t('metabox title'), 'content' => 'a test (value) ',)`, And it is shown in the view I created, but it is not saved in the database. My database is in English (es_ES), but I tried in Spanish and Latin. How can I save it? A: Your code adds a new element to the views_data array as described in the view_data function reference at the Views UI: The values from the $data array will be merged, with the existing data replacing any overwritten values. So when you define your field value as (for example) 'a test (value) ', then that is added to the views_data array, which will overwrite whatever was defined in the Views UI. Once you make your picture, then press here to make a game go.If you want to get a fresh game, you will have to make a new picture.Let's pick up where we left off... There's this guy on Youtube called TheRangeOfGames made a video review game(game#1) and invited me to do the review of the game too! I played the game for a day or so and got really bored so here's my review of TimeGapPuppies. Level #1 On the first level of the game, you are given a puppy with an egg...only problem is that the egg is broken so you have to find a way to break it! BEWARE, THERE ARE THOUSANDS OF EGGS To break the egg, move the egg left, left, right, left, up, up, right, right, left, right and up 3 times to break the egg. Eggs are easy to break and you will easily get the max score for a single egg on level#1. Level #2 Level#2 is where you play with time! I suggest you play the game with 5 minutes on this level and 10 minutes on the next level, ie total 25 minutes and save your score. Also, make sure to get the easy mode to keep the eggs falling nice and orderly! On level#2, the eggs are the same height. Your puppy can drop many eggs with different amounts of ammunition. Move the egg left, right, left, right, left, right, left, right, up, up, up, up, down, down, down, down, down and up 3 times to break the egg. The first time you play you will be most likely to miss and that means you can get the max score. There are two ways to break the egg... 1) Get the ammo that is broken by a bomb. 2) Get the ammo that is broken by the black hole. Keep score and replay level#2 the next time you play the game. On the right side, you will notice a power up button. Press that button to get a power up

They are typically medium in size, have tremendous muscle, and great endurance. With these dogs, you don't worry about biting the furniture or objects around you. These breeds are both extremely strong and very athletic, and they are in part bred for their hunting ability, so they do not pull, fight or suffer from shyness. History: Copper was primarily bred for hunting until the U. S. government switched its focus to livestock and livestock protector. This was followed by a larger demand for sheepdog breeds until large commercial farms began to panic and started looking for a domestic stock dog. Many of these were mutts from Prussian Shepherds, German Shepherd mixes, and German Shepherds. The American Pitbull Terrier, Blue Heeler, and Boxer were also developed for similar reasons. This is why the top four most popular breeds in the USA are often Prussian Shepherds, German Shepherds, American Pit Bulls, and German Shepherds.
