I am trying to get Push notification from an Android app to push to ios app. My problem is that I have no experience to code in java or objective C, and if I have read the tutorials I find at Google, I get stuck at the same step. So, do you have any examples to guide me to my desired end, or any good tutorial I could read, that would be very very usefull to me?

Thanks in advance. A: I would suggest finding a library written for doing exactly what you want, there are tons. One really is called Urban Airship - I use it to send Android to iOS notifications all the time with no issues. It's a bit expensive but you get 100's of users for free (you need to buy more tiers for more users) and they also have built in support for push notifications (so that you can do that
