[IMG] [IMG] [IMG] Nanrei 07-07-2015, 09:45 PM Thanks for the reply :) Well, just a question, do you honestly think this website will be deleted soon, or is it just rumours from some people that "have not a clue what they are talking about"? I see some boards talking about people not updating their posts for now, but I am posting this here because I do not know where else to post this. don't really know what to say, is this just a common topic for newcomers? I was under the impression that this website was always abandoned. I'm not a fan of the idea that the website will be deleted soon (even though I don't really care, maybe because my friends use it), but I do think the reason for the website being closed was the forums. Hello everyone, I was just going to ask the same question as a few people so please excuse me. This is my first time posting on the forums. Nanrei 08-13-2015, 12:13 AM Well, it's been a while and I have been reading a lot of topics in the forum, talking to some members and also watching the progress in the company. I don't really know how much you want to know since it's your website, but I'll try to give you the latest information. Oh, by the way, I will probably not post here in the future, but I will make one last attempt since I wanted to post something. If you see a new topic regarding Roblox that I should try to post or add in the forums, you can post it here in the forum so it could reach more members. Thank you. Rumblys 08-15-2015, 09:05 AM Hey, do you know if there are plans on coming back to the forums? Nanrei 08-15-2015, 09:07 AM I will not say anything related to this until a few days. I will only say what I

1929 British film charter The first British film charter, introduced in 1929, was devised by the British Film Association, and was succeeded by the British Film Commission. It replaced an earlier system to license films which had been in operation from 1923 and was proposed by the treasurer of the BFA, Henry M. Stern. The introduction of the BFA charter made it possible for films to be imported and distributed with the consent of the local film censor. This was a radically different situation from the normal manner in which censorship operated at the time. The system established did, however, allow the importation of films shown in European countries or South America, as well as the distribution of films shown in Australia and other British colonies. The system stipulated that films should be imported in a specially-marked transit-pack with the presence of a union representative, however they were often smuggled across the Channel, leading to increasing pressure from the French authorities to introduce border controls. In 1932, after decades of resistance from the British government, the French followed suit and introduced new controls on imports from Britain. Unlike the British Board of Film Censors, which only had jurisdiction within the UK, the BFA could decide what films to allow in and what films to ban. The Film Producers' Association took issue with the BFA charter and continued to license and regulate films until 1951, when the BBC stepped in to take control. A similar system was introduced in Canada, and Ireland, within the Commonwealth, followed a similar system. NASA's Mars Atmosphere and Volatile Evolution instrument, or MAVEN, has been in orbit around the Red Planet since September 2014. During its almost five-year mission, it's provided unprecedented insight into the region just above Mars's surface - and has found that the night air around the planet is one of the most chemically active places on the planet. MAVEN is one of five probes to investigate Mars's atmosphere. Together, they're making detailed measurements of gases

We have put together a short video about the Robux Generator on Youtube. Hope you enjoy! My name is Lucca, or "luku" to my buddies. You may call me "luka." I mean, I like to be called "luka" and "luku" because it's fun, but if you want to call me "lucca," that's great too. I'm part of a small little tribe called the 10-piglia. We like to call ourselves the 10-Piglia Tribe. We go on adventures, we like to play games, and we like to hunt. We like to go on hunts. It may be hard to believe that, but there's an entire jungle in the play room that all of our tribes live in. It's very big, too. It's at least two stories tall, and there are acorn animals. It's great to see how big the islands are. I think I just want to go to the forest now. I want to meet some of the animals. Do you think there are any animals in there? There is a huge area. There are a lot of animals, and it's really fun. I can't wait to go exploring. Sometimes there are lions around. They act a bit funny. I know! I want to pet the lions! When they get close, they start to run away. It's silly. Why did they do that? I can't make out what the problem is. I didn't do anything. I want to play more. I'm wondering if I can find some other animals. There's a really cool camel that comes out. I'm hoping to see him again. He comes out after sunset every day. I know! I want to run up to him and pet him. I hope he won't run away. Run? I hope he isn't running away. I want to pet him! It's so cute to see him run out of his home. He runs on his big legs. He'
